From the East

Greetings Brethren,

With the social distancing still in effect, Masonry and our social events will have to wait until such time that allows us to meet once again. Even though we cannot meet in person does not mean we cannot still reach out by various forms of communication. A phone call, email, or text message could make someones day. I challange our bothers to reach out to a brother you have not seen since this began and open a converstaion, tell a story or just listen to the other person speak. You never know the true effects a converstaion can have upon someone who may just need to hear from a true and trusty friend.

As always, Masons took a very serious pledge - to care for one another, our orphans and our widows. As Master of Hanford Lodge No. 279, I want to continue ensure we fulfill that commitment. Should you want for anything, regardless how insignificant you think it might be, please share your need. If you need a ride, want someone to handle your grocery shopping, need your yard tended to, or just want someone with which to talk, please call me. We are, regardless of everything going on around us, here for one another!

I look forward to hearing from you.

Fraternally,
Matthew Dawson
